Bilingualism in Schools & Society: Language, Identity, and Policy

April 11, 2013
4:00-5:30pm
SIS Founders Room

This book is an introduction to the social and educational aspects of bilingualism. It presents an overview of a broad range of sociolinguistic and political issues surrounding the use of two languages, including code-switching in popular music, advertising, and online social spaces. It offers a well-informed discussion of what it means to study and live with multiple languages in a globalized world and practical advice on raising bilingual children.

Sarah J. Shin, Professor of Education and Co-Director of the M.A. TESOL Program at the University of Maryland, Baltimore County and Visiting Scholar for the Center of Applied Linguistics, talks about her recent book Bilingualism in Schools and Society and discusses the roles of identity and code-switching in multilingual family and educational settings.

Copies of Bilingualism in Schools and Society will be available for purchase and signing.
