AMERICAN UNIVERSITY

ANNUAL SECURITY REPORT 2003

The safety and well being of all members of our community is of great concern to American University. Many departments and employees are dedicated to keeping the campus a safe place to live and work. A safe environment, however, depends on the cooperation and involvement of individuals in safeguarding themselves and others.

This publication contains information to aid in the cooperative effort of keeping the campus safe. It contains specific information on safety and security, crime prevention, University Police operations and breadth of authority, policies relating to reporting crime, campus disciplinary procedures, and crime statistics for the three previous calendar years. These statistics reflect reported crimes that occurred on campus, in certain off-campus buildings or property owned or controlled by American University, and on public property within or immediately adjacent to and accessible from the campus. The publication is distributed by October 1 each year to all students, faculty, and staff and can be obtained online at www.american.edu/finance/dps/asr_2003.html or by writing to Annual Security Report, Public Safety, American University, 4400 Massachusetts Avenue NW, Washington, DC 20016-8068. A copy can also be obtained by visiting Human Resources or Public Safety on campus. Additional security information, crime prevention programs, and monthly crime statistics are available by contacting Public Safety.

PUBLIC SAFETY: Organization and Responsibilities

The Public Safety office has primary responsibility for the security of American University. The department's mission is to create and maintain a safe and secure environment. This includes protecting lives, securing property, and preserving peace and order. Public Safety provides a variety of safety- and security-related services, organized into several units: University Police Services, Security Services, as well as Transportation and Community Services.

I. UNIVERSITY POLICE SERVICES

University Police Patrol operates 24 hours a day. University Police officers are commissioned law enforcement officers of the District of Columbia and have full investigative and arrest authority on university property. These officers include uniformed patrol officers and communication specialists. Patrol Operations manages the communications center, which includes supervision of our 24-hour emergency dispatch service. The communication specialists dispatch University Police officers and other personnel to all incidents and calls for service.

Duties

University Police protect university facilities, including academic and administrative buildings, parking lots, athletic fields, and grounds. Patrols are done by vehicle, bicycle, and on foot. Officers check in at residence hall front desks but do not routinely patrol the buildings unless requested to do so. Safety escorts are provided at night or by special request for individuals on campus. Officers respond to all reports of crime, fire, medical, and other emergencies and coordinate with the District of Columbia Fire and Police Departments. The University Police dispatcher coordinates all on-campus emergency communications and requests for service.

Police Administration Services conducts investigations of reported crimes. Investigations of serious campus crimes are coordinated with the District of Columbia Metropolitan Police Department (MPD). When appropriate, investigation results are presented to the U.S. Attorney for prosecution, to the university for disciplinary action, or both. Records management and judicial affairs are key functions for the police administrative unit. All police reports, statistics, statements, and evidence are managed by the staff.

Police Powers

As commissioned officers, University Police are sworn to uphold the Constitution and all laws and legal regulations for the United States and the District of Columbia. Additionally, the officers are obligated as officials of American University to enforce university rules and regulations. All police officers are required to identify persons they suspect of being perpetrators of, or witnesses to, a crime.

The university restricts access to its facilities to members of the academic community and bona fide guests. In order to uphold this policy, all students, faculty, and staff are required to possess an American University ID card (Americard) and to present it when requested by a university official. Individuals who do not have legitimate reasons for being on campus or in a university building, and who refuse to comply with a request to leave, may be subject to arrest under the District of Columbia Code Section 22-3102, Unlawful Entry. By law, police officers are permitted to stop individuals suspected of criminal activity and to request their name, address, business, and destination. Anyone failing to answer these questions to the satisfaction of the officer may be detained for further investigation. Resistance to detention may result in a more serious charge. Officers must be mindful of their safety while performing their duties. For this reason, the law permits officers to search a person who has been detained to ensure that he or she does not possess a weapon.

Crime Prevention

The crime prevention coordinator manages prevention efforts on campus through community policing, directly with the University Police officers. Crime prevention programs and materials are developed to aid students and employees in protecting themselves and their property. These materials and programs are actively promoted and are made available to the university community.

Other programs coordinated by University Police are the officer liaison and bike patrol. These programs enable officers to communicate with campus community members more regularly and to build relationships of mutual trust and respect.

Philosophy of Community Policing

The community policing coordinator oversees community policing efforts on campus. In cooperation with police operations command staff, the community policing coordinator facilitates an in-service University Police training program. Some of the topics covered are community-oriented policing services, partnership development, problem solving, and the history and philosophy of law enforcement. Other training topics are CPR and First Aid, Infection Control, and Tactical Communications. Additionally, University Police officers attend an eight-week Campus Public Safety Institute sponsored by the Consortium of Universities of the Washington Metropolitan Area. This comprehensive program provides valuable training in all aspects of university policing.

The University Police at American University have adopted a community policing model, which promotes active participation between police and community members. It recognizes that crime is more effectively deterred with a teamwork approach between these parties. With effective communication between community members and officers, community members become active participants in safety practices and crime prevention. In an effort to foster this philosophy, professional training has been provided for officers and community service technicians in effective communication skills. A customer survey solicits feedback on the quality of service University Police provides. This information is vital to the internal changes Public Safety makes and to the improvements to the quality of service University Police offers.

II. SECURITY SERVICES

The Security Services unit maintains the security and intrusion alarm systems, electronic access systems, and closed circuit television systems at American University. Efforts in these areas prevent unauthorized access to university facilities. All university special events requiring Public Safety are managed through this unit. The Security Services coordinator acts as liaison for Public Safety to other departments for special events on campus. This includes the planning, coordination, and implementation of Public Safety's participation, service, and support for special events at the university. Security Services also works closely with many other units on campus in this effort. Unit personnel conduct periodic audits to assess physical security requirements and future expansion. Community service technicians work in this unit as licensed security officers and assist the department in the day-to-day customer service duties of the operation. Community service technicians lock and unlock buildings and admit authorized persons into locked areas. Community service technicians can issue traffic citations, which are adjudicated through Transportation Services and university disciplinary processes.

III. TRANSPORTATION AND COMMUNITY SERVICES

The Transportation and Community Services unit provides many services important to the mission of the Public Safety office. This unit is responsible for the parking, traffic, and shuttle services for the university community. Staff from Transportation and Community Services, along with community service technicians operate a welcome desk in the Public Safety building. Services, such as information dissemination, ID card and key distribution, issuing parking permits, answering parking ticket and shuttle questions, phone operator answering calls, and maintaining lost and found, are provided by this unit.

Relationship with Local Law Enforcement Agencies

American University is located in upper northwest Washington, D.C., in the Second District of the Metropolitan Police Department (MPD). The Second District precinct is located approximately 1.5 miles from campus. Public Safety maintains a close working relationship with MPD and communicates items of mutual concern on a daily basis with them. MPD dispatches officers when a felony is reported, a victim requests them, or when an arrest is made. MPD works with the university investigator on complex or specialized cases and provides daily reports of criminal activity in the surrounding areas. MPD officials meet regularly with area campus law enforcement directors to discuss mutual concerns, coordinate programs, and exchange information.

Reporting Criminal Actions and Emergencies

Students, faculty, staff, and visitors should immediately report any criminal offenses to Public Safety. Emergencies, potential criminal actions, or suspicious activities can be reported by regular telephone, emergency telephone, or in person. You may dial extension 3636 from any on-campus telephone. Ninety-five emergency telephones, mounted on poles with blue lights on top, are located on the grounds of the university, in garages, building lobbies, and elevators. These telephones automatically connect to the Public Safety office. Depressing the button on the box will activate the telephone connection. You can begin to speak when the dispatcher answers over the speaker. Indoor emergency telephones are located in 17 buildings and at the residence hall front desks. The telephones are red, identified by signs, and automatically connect to the Public Safety office when the receiver is lifted. The location of an activated telephone is displayed in the Public Safety office so that officers can be dispatched to investigate, even if there is no voice communication.

Reports can also be made in person at the Public Safety building or to uniformed University Police officers on patrol throughout campus. Criminal offenses can be reported to officials at American University. These persons include deans of academic units, directors, and department heads of administrative units. Confidential reports can be made to officials at the Counseling Center, the Student Health Center, Kay Spiritual Life Center, and the Faculty Staff Assistance Program (FSAP). There is also a crime tips hotline, TIPS (To Inform Public Safety)— 202-885-CLUE (2583), to anonymously report information. The crimes reported to these sources are tallied by these sources and provided to Public Safety to be included in the annual disclosure crime statistics, but the reports and details of incidence remain with these sources and are strictly confidential.

When a report of an urgent situation is received, officers are dispatched to the scene to lend assistance, investigate, prepare a report, and conduct follow-up, as needed. District of Columbia fire, emergency medical, and police personnel are called when appropriate.

Reporting Sex-Related Offenses

In reporting a case of sexual assault, you have several options:

- Go to the hospital for an exam. If you choose to report the assault for criminal prosecution at the hospital, hospital officials will call a member of the MPD Sex Offense Squad to collect appropriate evidence. Do not shower or bathe prior to this exam. Bring with you in a plastic bag any clothes or articles you were wearing when the assault occurred. A Residential Life staff member or staff member from Public Safety can help you arrange transportation to the hospital.

- Receive counseling or a counseling referral from the Counseling Center on campus.
- Receive medical attention at the Student Health Center (SHC). The SHC can provide testing for sexually transmitted diseases and other services; however, the SHC cannot collect evidence for MPD in preparation for possible criminal prosecution. It is therefore important that you go to the hospital if you believe that there is a possibility that you may press criminal charges.
- Report the assault to local authorities (MPD) and request that charges be filed.
- Report the assault to campus authorities (Public Safety, Office of Campus Life, the Dean of Students Office, the Counseling Center, or the Faculty Staff Assistance Program).
- File charges through the university's internal judicial system, Judicial Affairs and Mediation Services. You may file charges at the university in addition to charges you may have filed through the court system (criminal or civil).
- Call outside sources such as D.C. Rape Crisis Hotline.
- Call friends or family to assist you.
- Receive assistance regarding academic matters or living arrangements, which may be affected by your situation.

Victims of sex-related offenses are strongly encouraged to report such crimes to the Public Safety office. Public Safety will provide assistance with filing a university incident report. A female or male officer, as appropriate, may handle an intake interview. The Office of Campus Life staff are also available to help in filing reports. The following services are available to victims regardless of whether the crime occurred on or off campus:

- The victim, upon request, will be transported to the Student Health Center, and an area hospital for medical assistance, or both.
- Psychological counseling is made available through the university Counseling Center, Faculty Staff Assistance Program (FSAP), and the D.C. Rape Crisis Hotline.
- Public Safety will notify the victim of the option to change his or her academic and living arrangements. This office will assist with changes, if requested by the victim, and if facilities are reasonably available.
- The victim is informed of his or her option to notify MPD or other appropriate law enforcement authorities. Public Safety will provide assistance in notifying local authorities, if requested by the victim.
- The victim is informed of his or her option to file charges with the University Conduct Council or other appropriate disciplinary bodies. Assistance with filing these charges is made available to the victim.

The victim will be advised of the importance of preserving evidence for the proof of a criminal offense. The decision of the victim to pursue or not pursue some course of criminal or civil action in these incidents is honored and respected.

Conduct Council Hearing Procedures

In cases of an alleged sex offense the case will be referred for a disciplinary hearing. The accuser and the accused are entitled to the same opportunities to have others present during a disciplinary proceeding. Both the accuser and the accused shall be informed of the outcome of the disciplinary proceeding. Specifically, both parties will be informed of the university's final determination with regard to the alleged sex offense(s), and any sanction that is imposed against the accused.

University Sanctions for Sex-Related Offenses

Students found guilty of sex-related offense(s) through the University Conduct Council are given sanctions that are implemented by the Dean of Students in accordance with university policies. There are no automatic sanctions for particular offenses. The University Conduct Council evaluates cases individually and applies sanctions consonant with the severity of offense(s). However, in reviewing precedent, students should be aware that the predictable consequences for sex-related offenses are suspension or dismissal from the university.

Access to Facilities

American University has an open environment that allows individuals to move freely around the campus. This open environment makes all members of the university community responsible for immediately reporting suspicious activity to University Police. Individuals challenged by University Police officers for suspicious activity are required to identify themselves and present student, employee, or other identification, as requested.

Grounds

Access to the grounds is generally not controlled. The outside athletic facilities and adjacent unlit areas are closed at dark. Individuals observed displaying suspicious behavior or suspected of unlawful acts will be questioned by University Police officers.

Academic and Administrative Buildings

Buildings are open during regular business and class hours. Instructional facilities are generally open from 7:00 a.m. to 11:00 p.m., while classes are in session. There are areas scheduled for 24-hour use: the Ward Reading Room, Anderson Computer Lab, and Mary Graydon Center. Additionally, other areas may be open for 24-hour use during exam periods or for other special needs. University Police officers and community service technicians lock and unlock exterior building entrances without electronic access control systems. Only individuals with valid identification and written authorization are admitted to locked buildings and areas.

Residence Halls

Residence Halls are locked 24 hours a day and are controlled by an electronic access control system. Residents and visitors enter through the main entrance only. Residents use a magnetic access card to open the building door. Visitors are granted entry by the front desk staff and must be escorted by a resident. The front desk is staffed 24 hours a day. University personnel and maintenance staff check in at the front desk.

While the university makes every effort to prevent access by uninvited visitors, it is necessary that residents also take an active role to prevent this. Strangers should be reported to the hall staff, and doors should not be held open for non-residents to enter. Residents are held responsible for the actions of their guests. Students are also encouraged to lock their doors at all times.

Alarms and Closed-Circuit Cameras

Certain areas in academic and administrative buildings are connected to intrusion alarms that report to a central monitoring station in the Public Safety office. All residence hall exterior doors are alarmed. These alarms are monitored by Public Safety and also sound a local siren. Closed-circuit camera systems record activity in 24-hour areas: Nebraska Parking Lot and the lobbies of several academic buildings on campus. Upgrades and expansions of these systems are planned for and installed annually.

Maintenance

The Physical Plant Operations office maintains university facilities with safety and security in mind. University Police officers and community service technicians report broken doors, windows, locks, lights, and other hazards by calling x2-FIX (2349) to reach our university Information Center. These items receive expedited maintenance action. Public Safety personnel complete inspections of campus facilities to assess potential risks and make recommendations for improvement.

Off-Campus Student Organizations

The University does not currently recognize any off-campus student organizations and therefore does not monitor such off-campus activity.

Crime Prevention

Crime prevention is a university-wide effort. Working with the Office of Campus Life and other units, Public Safety develops programs to promote safety and security. Each member of Public Safety promotes crime prevention throughout the university community. Officers conduct programs, answer questions about safety and security, respond to inquiries about Public Safety's role on campus, and encourage residents to become active members in the university community in relation to safety issues. Public Safety's proactive stance on crime prevention is part of its basic philosophy.

Educational Programs

A wide variety of crime prevention education programs are available to students and employees. Some of these programs are:

- Safety in the City: A program dedicated to educating students about living in an urban setting and utilizing crime prevention skills.
- The Target is Opportunity—Operation Identification: A program designed to educate individuals on the advantages of properly identifying personal property to avoid theft.
- Who is Public Safety?: Introduces students to the functions and purpose of University Police and Public Safety. Looks at the services Public Safety offers and is required to provide to students, staff, and faculty and the university community as a whole. Offers important phone numbers and educates students on the training, credentials, and authority of University Police, on campus and in surrounding neighborhoods.
- Drug Awareness: A program designed to educate students on the hazards of drug use to include, not only the danger to an individual's health and well-being, but the legal ramifications, financial hardships, and social difficulties drug use and experimentation can lead to.
- Dating Violence: Educates individuals, but primarily women, on acquaintance rape. Introduces them to preventive strategies to avoid dangerous dating situations. Educates students on forms of dating violence, such as emotional and sexual abuse.
- Alcohol and Its Consequences—Combating Underage Drinking: Illustrates the effects of alcohol and the dangerous consequences of underage drinking.
- Rape Aggression Defense Systems (RAD): A physical defense course for women that teaches rape prevention and practical self-defense techniques.*
*Forty-hour course.

Campus groups are encouraged to sponsor these programs to increase attendance and to bring together individuals who have common concerns. Programs are presented to new students at orientation and (unless noted) last one to one-and-one-half hours. These programs are promoted to residence assistants to be offered in the residence halls. They are also promoted to university employees. They are designed to address specific needs of the audience and focus on taking personal responsibility for individual safety, avoiding unsafe situations, and using Public Safety services. Individuals interested in the educational programs should contact Public Safety at x2529. The Student Health Center and the Office of Campus Life may offer related programs on acquaintance rape, alcohol, relationships, and self-defense.

Escort Service

University Police escort individuals walking on campus at night. To arrange for an escort, call x2527 or use an emergency telephone.

Educational and Counseling Programs

Educational programs and counseling options are available to students and employees at AU. The Student Health Center and Human Resources sponsor a wide variety of substance abuse education programs. The Counseling Center and the Human Resources office have treatment and counseling options available for individuals and groups.

Crime Prevention Boards and Postings

Crime prevention boards are located: inside the lobbies of Butler building, Bender Library, Glover Tunlaw Apartments, Federal building, Mary Graydon Center, Hurst building, McKinley building, Ward building, Asbury building, the Sports Center, the Washington College of Law, and Brandywine building. They are also located outside at the main shuttle depot and at the Nebraska parking lot. These boards are used to post campus monthly crime statistics, crime alerts, crime prevention tips, and other information. Display tables are exhibited at various campus events throughout the year. These displays contain information regarding Public Safety services and crime prevention programs. Crime prevention literature is also distributed at these exhibits.

Preventing Sexual Assault

Programs in the prevention of sexual assault are offered through the Office of Campus Life and by Public Safety to students, faculty, and staff. Rape Aggression Defense Systems (RAD), a physical defense course for women offered by Public Safety, teaches rape prevention and practical self-defense techniques. There are also programs on dating violence and acquaintance rape offered by the Office of Campus Life.

Crime Alerts

Crime Alerts are written and posted to inform the campus community of crimes considered to be a threat to other students and employees. These alerts are generated by crimes that are reported to University Police or local law enforcement agencies. Crime alerts are provided to students and employees in a timely manner so that they can aid in the prevention of similar occurrences.

Crime Log

Public Safety maintains a crime log, which is written in an easily understood format and records all crimes reported to University Police. The log describes the nature, date, time, and general location of each crime and the disposition of the complaint, if known. The log is maintained in the Public Safety building for the most recent 60-day period and is open to public inspection during normal business hours, Monday through Friday, unless the university is closed. Entries or updates are made to the log within two business days after the information becomes available. There are times, however, when information may be withheld from the log. If there is clear and convincing evidence that the release of such information would jeopardize an ongoing criminal investigation or the safety of an individual, cause a suspect to flee or evade detection, or result in the destruction of evidence, the information may be withheld until that damage is no longer likely to occur.

The Campus Sex Crimes Prevention Act

The Campus Sex Crimes Prevention Act (section 1601 of Public Law 106-386) provides for the tracking of convicted, registered sex offenders working or volunteering on campus or enrolled as students at institutions of higher education. The Sex Offender Registry database provides information on Class A sex offenders living, residing, working or attending school in the District of Columbia only. For this information go to the MPDC Sex Offender Registry at <<http://www.mpdcc.gov/serv/sor/sor.shtm>>. For a complete list of all Class A, B and C sex offenders, you must go, in person, to MPD District 2 (2D), located at 3220 Idaho Ave., NW, Washington, DC 20016 or one of the other MPD Registry Book locations listed on the MPD website at <<http://www.mpdcc.gov/serv/sor/registrylocations/shtm>>.

Drug Policy

Possession and/or use of illicit drugs and unauthorized controlled substances is contrary to university policy and in violation of federal and District of Columbia laws. The university prohibits the possession, use, manufacture, distribution, and/or sale of illegal drugs and illegal paraphernalia. Students at the university using or otherwise involved with drugs in violation of the Student Conduct Code and/or the university Housing Agreement are subject to university disciplinary action, in addition to any action taken by local or federal law enforcement authorities.

Questions regarding the drug policy should be directed to the Dean of Students Office, x3300, 408 Butler Pavillion.

Cooperation with Law Enforcement Authorities

The university cooperates fully with law enforcement authorities. Violations of the Code of Conduct or Residence Hall Regulations, which are also violations of federal or local law, may be referred to external enforcement. In such situations, cases may proceed concurrently at the university and in the criminal justice system.

University Sanctions for Violating Alcohol and Drug Policies

Students found responsible through the Conduct Council of violating the Code of Conduct are given sanctions. These sanctions are implemented by the dean of students in accordance with university policies. There are no automatic sanctions for particular offenses; the Conduct Council evaluates cases individually and applies sanctions consonant with the severity of the offense. However, in reviewing precedent, the predictable consequences for drug and alcohol related offenses are:

Alcohol Violations

- A. First time minor violations may result in sanctions including, but not limited to, a letter of warning, censure, and community restitution hours.

Refer to District of Columbia Crimes and Penalties — Alcohol, listed below.

Drug Violations

- A. First time sale, distribution, use, or possession of illegal drugs may result in sanctions including, but not limited to, disciplinary probation, denial of visiting privileges in the residence halls, a drug education program, and removal from the residence halls permanently or for a specified period.
- B. Second time sale, distribution, use, or possession of illegal drugs may result in sanctions including, but not limited to, removal from the residence halls permanently, suspension or dismissal from the university, and recommended attendance at a private drug treatment program (depending upon the situation).

CRIME PREVENTION TIPS

In the residence halls:

- Students should attend the regularly scheduled crime prevention seminars held in the residence halls. These seminars, sponsored by Public Safety and Housing and Dining Services, are conducted on a variety of subjects and could help students avoid becoming victims of crime.
- Room doors should be locked at all times, whether the room is occupied or not. Many victims of theft have been out of their rooms for only minutes or were across the hall in a friend's room.
- Propped doors also increase vulnerability to crime. If an interior or exterior door is found propped open, students should call an RA or close the door.
- Cash, credit cards, jewelry and other valuables should be locked in a drawer or trunk. Students should take these valuables with them during school breaks. Clothing or other property should not be left unattended in lounges or laundry rooms.

- Operation Identification, a program offered by Public Safety in cooperation with Metropolitan Police, involves marking items of value with an ID number, thereby allowing police to trace recovered property to the owner.
- Students should register their bicycles with Public Safety (in cooperation with the Metropolitan Police). Students should also lock their bicycles with high-security locks.
- Suspicious incidents, activities, or persons should be reported to hall staff and to University Police (x3636). Instant crime reporting, or reporting (crime or suspicious behavior) as soon as possible, is essential in keeping campus crime down and in assisting University Police in keeping the campus safe. University Police stress that one should never hesitate or feel reluctant to contact them with any suspicion regarding their own or someone else's safety.

In general:

- Be aware of your surroundings. At night, travel in groups whenever possible, especially when walking. Use lighted walkways and thoroughfares, even if it means going out of your way. Walk briskly, with your head up, and with assurance. Do not walk in brush-covered areas or against buildings. Do not wear dangling jewelry when traveling into the city. Keep purses, backpacks, and money belts close to the body, and do not leave them unattended. Do not struggle if someone attempts to take your purse, backpack, or money belt.
- Park vehicles in a well-lighted and populated area. If this is impossible, scan the area before getting into or out of your vehicle. Know your surroundings! When getting into your vehicle, do so briskly, quickly, and confidently. Avoid becoming too absorbed with the task at hand, such as keeping your head down at the key lock, occupying yourself with bags, books, or keys; avoiding such behavior will prevent you from becoming a target for crime. Keep keys in hand to avoid unnecessary delay upon reaching your car. Plan ahead, always, even if you are late or in a rush.
- Travel by way of the university shuttle whenever possible. Shuttle service is offered to Tenleytown Metro Station, Glover Tunlaw apartments, Tenley Campus, and Park Bethesda. Student-sponsored shuttle service (AUTO) offers various runs to other locations.
- University Police will escort individuals walking on campus at night. To arrange for an escort, call x2527, or use an emergency telephone.

If you are a victim of a crime, seek assistance in the nearest building or other occupied area. TELEPHONE POLICE at 911, if the incident occurs off campus. TELEPHONE PUBLIC SAFETY at x3636, if the event occurs on campus.
