

Civility in the Classroom DVD

The Civility in the Classroom DVD is designed to help create environments conducive to intellectual discourse, cooperation, and learning. The program objectives are achieved as audience members view the video and engage in discussion.

A brief facilitation guide accompanies the DVD. The purpose of the facilitation guide is to assist facilitators in leading discussions based on the video.

The Civility in the Classroom DVD can be adapted to several situations. The below groups may find this DVD particularly helpful.

- Instructors for First Year Experience courses or University 101 seminars
- Excellence in Teaching centers
- Leadership seminars or courses

A preview of Civility in the Classroom is available on the CIVITAS website.

Should you have further questions, please contact the Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution Services office at American University (202-885-3328 or conduct@american.edu)

Thank you for your interest in Civility in the Classroom. We hope that you find the video and facilitation guide helpful as you work to foster civil learning environments on your campus.