

Weekly Greening

Committed to Going Greener Week by Week in Campus Life

Volume 1, Issue 15

February 9, 2009

Eco-Friendly in the Office:

Sweets for Your Suitemate

For those looking to bring in chocolate on Friday, try these mouth-watering treats:

- Green & Black's Organic Chocolate
- CocoaVia Chocolates
- Divine Chocolate
- Endangered Species Chocolate
- Theo Chocolate
- Newman's Own Organics Chocolate
- Vere Chocolates
- Dagoba Organic Chocolate
- Equal Exchange Chocolate
- Art Bar

And if chocolate is not your thing, here are some other ideas for V-Day sweets:

- Yummy Earth Organic Lollipops
- College Farm Hard Candy
- Candy Tree Mixed Fruit Toffee
- Pure Fun Fruit Rocks

Highlighted items can be found at any Whole Foods Market

Courtesy of

www.thedailygreen.com

Eco-Friendly in the Home:

Homemade Cards

What You'll Need:

Scissors

Glue Stick

Crayons

Recycled Paper

Old Magazines

Creativity at its best:

Paper, random cut-outs in old magazines, and crayons to give it that "I may be thirty but I still write like I'm 3" look. Have fun!

Many flowers chosen for delivery are often sprayed with chemicals. When deciding to send flowers, check to see if organic are available.

Weekly Tasks

- Think green when buying your V-Day goodies this week; make your own cards from recycled paper or buy organic/fair trade candy

Helpful Website of the Week

www.ithacafinechocolates.com

Fact Check

14

The amount in billions Americans spent on Valentine's Day in 2008.

www.thedailygreen.com