

AU 2030 FACULTY RETREAT

GLOBAL ECONOMIC AND FINANCIAL GOVERNANCE

PROJECT SUMMARY

- . The Global Economic and Financial Governance project seeks to develop greater expertise in the study of national, regional, and international institutions, laws, standards and other means to manage the powerful economic and financial forces that have driven the globalization process.
- . These issues are increasing in importance in the wake of the 2008-09 global economic and financial crises, the subsequent debacle in Europe's periphery, and the rise of new powers in Asia (China and India) and Latin America (Brazil and Mexico).
- . Global governance problems and solutions are at the intersection of economics, finance, international relations, law, and political science. By harvesting synergies between our faculty and scholars worldwide, including practitioners at think tanks and global institutions, SIS can generate meaningful intellectual and programmatic output, and pioneer a learning center in economic and financial governance.

PROJECT GOALS

- . Pioneer a high-level, interdisciplinary center focused on global economic and financial governance
- . Develop an online clearinghouse for information on regional and global economic and financial governance regimes, and aim to become the electronic publishing outlet for research
- . Create an oral history library for global economic governance

NEXT STEPS

- . Develop a common program of study
- . Establish a coordinating entity, such as a center or institute, and seek out a high-profile project director
- . Hire assistant staff
- . Open faculty lines for scholars or practitioners to develop courses and carry out publishable research on global economic issues
- . Investigate collaboration with think tanks, both abroad and in Washington, DC

AFFILIATED FACULTY

Amitav Acharya, SIS
Robert Blecker, CAS
David Bosco, SIS
Frank Dubois, KSB
Michelle Egan, SIS
Tamar Gutner, SIS
Randall Henning, SIS
Miles Kahler, SIS
Robin Lumsdaine, KSB
Ayman Omar, KSB

POINT OF CONTACT

ARTURO PORZECANSKI
DISTINGUISHED ECONOMIST-IN-RESIDENCE
aporzeca@american.edu