

Center For Business Ethics and Corporate Governance

Internships for Graduate Students in Law and International Relations

It would be our pleasure to consider candidates from the School of International Service for an internship with the Center for Business Ethics and Corporate Governance (CBE) during the summer of 2011. CBE is a non-profit organization founded to create social capital in the Russian Federation, Independent States and Eastern Europe by helping to institutionalize ethical and transparent business practices. The main activities of the CBE are:

- Designing ethics and governance programs for individual companies;
- Organizing public seminars and conferences on business ethics;
- Conducting research and analysis;
- Formulation of policy and legislation.

Please note that as a non-profit, CBE is not presently able to pay salaries or costs of the internship program. Typically, summer interns secure the payment for costs of the internship, including round-trip air fare, rental of a small apartment or room, and a small stipend for living expenses on their own. CBE helps to make the living arrangements for the intern.

Interested candidates should have Russian language skills. Each intern is given a specific substantive project to maximize the benefits of the experience for both the intern and CBE. At this stage, we envision that work of the summer interns for the CBE for 2011 will be required in the following areas:

Research: Research on a range of subjects, including best practices in corporate social responsibility and corporate governance and integrity in public administration, focusing on ways to increase transparency.

Writing: Help out with reports, assistance with project coordination.

Training: CBE conducts training seminars on anti-corruption and business ethics. It also helps adjust Russian professional codes to international practice.
