

American University
School of Public Affairs
Department of Government
Associate Professor, American Politics – Civic Engagement
Academic Year 2013-2014

The Department of Government in the School of Public Affairs at American University invites applications for a tenure-line position as an Associate Professor in American Politics with a focus on civic engagement and/or representation. Depending on qualifications, the appointee to this position may be recommended for tenure at the time of hiring. We are interested in candidates in the following subfields: Latino politics, race and politics, and women and politics. Candidates who study urban politics and immigration are especially encouraged to apply. We seek to recruit candidates who are theoretically sophisticated, methodologically rigorous, and have demonstrated success in funded research. We are looking for candidates who have a record of successful collaboration and are looking for opportunities to advance their research profile. The appointment begins August 1, 2013. Review of applications will begin September 24, 2012.

Please send applications (a curriculum vitae and a statement of research and teaching interests) to: govsearch@american.edu with the subject line, “American Politics Search – Civic Engagement.” Electronic submissions are preferred; applications and letters of recommendation may also be mailed to: Office of the Dean – American Politics Search, School of Public Affairs, American University, 4400 Massachusetts Ave., NW, Washington, DC 20016-8022.

American University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action university committed to a diverse faculty, staff, and student body. Minority and women candidates are strongly encouraged to apply.
