New Year’s Resolutions from your Peer Advisors

We hope your winter break was relaxing and you are ready for the 2011 spring semester because it is upon us already! Your CAS Peer Advisors are here to help you get the semester off to a strong start. Here are some New Year’s Resolutions to help make the most of your spring semester:

• Go to your professors’ office hours. Not only can your professors help you with course material, they can also give you advice about careers in their field.
• Don’t procrastinate! Make a calendar marking important due dates to help keep yourself on track.
• Join a new club and get to know AU students who share your interests.
• Take advantage of a campus resource, like the Writing Center or the Math and Statistics Tutoring Lab.

Important Reminders:

• 1/10—1/24: CAS Academic Advisors have walk-in hours from 9am—5pm.
• 1/17: Martin Luther King Jr. day, No classes. Visit the AU Center for Community Engagement and Service website at: www.american.edu/oci/volunteer for information on how to participate in Dr King’s dream of a community united through service.
• 1/24: Add/Drop period ends. Last day to add/drop courses and change your grading option. (see FAQ in left hand column for advice about these options)
• 1/31: Last day to add an internship for credit.

For more information on the peer advisors visit: http://www.american.edu/cas/advising/peer.cfm

Contributors: Alex Rose-Henig, Amber Tollefson, Rachel Strohman, Lindsay Inge.