Planning an ESL class can leave you with a lot of questions.

What do authentic materials for an adult education ESL class look like?

How many different activities should you do in a class, and should each activity have separate materials?

How do my materials support my course goals and my students' needs?

How can I adapt a textbook so it really works for my class?

Is it always better to have a lot of materials, or can less be more?

To explore these and other questions, join Amber Gallup Rodriguez and Sarah Young from the Center for Applied Linguistics for the AU TESOL Program Fall Conference:

Make the Materials Match the Message: Materials Design and Adaptation for the Adult ESL Classroom

October 16th, 2010  9:00am-12:30pm

American University campus, QB4 lounge (formerly the SIS lounge)

Please join us for breakfast at 8:30am and lunch after the workshop.

The workshop costs $10 for AU TESOL students and $20 for all others.
