

American University Neighborhood Partnership Transportation and Parking Working Group Summary

April 23, 2020

Key Discussion Points:

- Existing Transportation Conditions
- Next Steps
- Comments and Questions

Summary: After a round of introductions, the Transportation and Parking Working Group looked at the process of drafting a Comprehensive Transportation Review (CTR) Scoping form and the key components it would need to include. A team from Nelson/Nygaard, AU's transportation consultant, next presented the traffic data and preliminary analysis following the traffic count study conducted in February 2020. The team provided a report on existing traffic conditions and future baseline conditions for regional and local growth. The report from Nelson/Nygaard also included information on main access points to AU's campus and both existing and proposed transportation facilities. Finally, their presentation provided analysis of the travel modes used by AU's commuter population and an analysis of bicycle and pedestrian safety. The meeting wrapped up by looking at the next steps for the CTR process and the working group.
