We Recommend...

Iona
Iona's mission is to support people as they experience the challenges and opportunities of aging. They educate, advocate, and provide community-based programs and services to help people age well and live well. They envision a community that celebrates, values, respects and protects the contributions and possibilities of every individual. They have two sites, one near the Tenleytown metro and the other at St Albans (next to the National Cathedral.) Service Learning opportunities include: design and implement community workshops; collaborate on health and wellness programs; partner with health policy experts on cutting edge research; contribute key elements to communications strategies; assist in the development of outreach tools in the arts, community engagement and social services.

Alliance for Aging Research
The private, not-for-profit Alliance for Aging Research is a national citizen advocacy organization working to improve the lives of Americans as they grow older by advancing biomedical and behavioral research in aging and health. The Alliance was founded in 1986 to promote and accelerate medical and scientific research into aging. As America’s Baby Boom is transformed to an unprecedented Senior Boom, the Alliance is a valued and respected voice in the nation’s capital: developing, implementing and advocating programs in research, health education and public policy.
