

Adjunct Professional Development Applications Are Closed

Unfortunately, the money allocated to the Adjunct Professional Development Fund has been exhausted for this contract period, which runs until August 31, 2019, so no new applications can be considered at this time.

If you have already been notified by the provost's office that your application was approved, you can still submit your receipts to your teaching unit for reimbursement.

The funds for adjunct professional development are allocated by the university as specified in the Collective Bargaining Agreement with SEIU Local 500. A new agreement will go into effect on September 1, at which time we anticipate that new funding will become available.