

Lohena Cabrera

Alum - JLC

Growing up in Miami, Lohena Cabrera (JLC '16) says many of her family members were in the military or law enforcement. "I always knew I wanted to be a public servant in some capacity," says the 27-year-old who now lives in Virginia. "I wanted to be part of something bigger than myself... to know that I changed someone's life for the better." Concentrating in Terrorism and National Security Policy at SPA and having three internships helped expose Lohena to career options. She now works for CENTRA Technology Inc., a consulting firm that focuses on the intelligence community. Prior to attending American University, Lohena attended the University of Miami where she received her bachelor's degree in Political Science.