

Grants Matrix: State-Administered Federal Funds that can Support Legal Aid

The Justice in Government Project (JGP) searches for opportunities to connect good government with access to justice. This includes identifying state and local government policies, programs, and priorities where evidence shows including legal services alongside other supportive services can improve outcomes, effectiveness, and cost efficiencies. States receive a significant influx of federal grants – about one-third of total state government funding – to implement many public policies and programs including those to enable access to health care, income security, education, employment, social services, and housing, and improve family stability and public safety.

Many opportunities to financially support civil legal aid flow from states' powers to administer some of those federal funding sources. Avoiding here the technical differences among the different grant mechanisms, this matrix focuses on those block, formula, and open-end reimbursement grants (AKA pass-through funds) where the federally-established amounts and spending parameters give states flexibility to tailor spending to local priorities and allow state spending on civil legal aid – whether to support self-represented litigants, brief counsel and advice, or limited and/or full representation. Each of the federal funding sources in the matrix have their own authorizing statute, regulations, formulas, sub-regulatory guidance and degrees of flexibility.

The matrix shows the possibilities for partnering with state and local governments to address the need for civil legal help that advances government priorities involving low-income and other underserved populations. It provides an overview of those state-administered federal funds that can support legal aid and examples of how states have used these funds to advance their goals with legal aid. It also gives helpful tips, like how to find your state's administrator, how much funding is available, and where to find state-specific plans and reports. For an abbreviated overview of this resource, please see JGP's Grants Matrix At-a-Glance.

PANDEMIC-RELATED FUNDING INFORMATION: The Helpful tips column includes tips in orange font about CARES Act and other COVID-19-related law or agency guidance relevant to the funding source. Given the pandemic-related imperative for legal aid and partners to expand technology tools and remote service delivery, the Helpful tips column also highlights in green font the potential to use funds for technology.

AmeriCorps provides grants to a broad range of local and national organizations and agencies committed to using service to address compelling community issues. Participating organizations, including nonprofits, courts, public agencies, institutions of higher education, Indian Tribes, and faith-based organizations, enroll AmeriCorps members in an approved national service position and engage them in intensive service. Match requirement: CNCS does not provide all the funds needed to operate the program. There are different requirements for cost sharing or matching depending on different factors. Each state has its own selection process and decides whether to award a subgrant from its formula grant or to put the application forward to CNCS for competitive funding. Organizations should contact their state commissions to receive the appropriate application materials and to learn about state specific deadlines.
