ARTICLE I. The General Assembly

Section i. Composition and Membership

Subsection 1. The voting membership of GA shall be composed of representatives chosen by the residents of the various halls which shall include the Hall Council Senators and Hall Council Presidents. Members of the RHA Executive Board, and Administrative Boards shall be members in a non-voting, ex-officio capacity unless otherwise prescribed a vote as a presiding officer.

Subsection 2. Representatives of the General Assembly shall not be permitted to simultaneously hold any Executive Branch office that requires confirmation by the General Assembly.

Section ii. Meetings and Rights

Subsection 1. Meetings of GA shall meet regularly, no fewer than once monthly, at a uniform time and place to transact the business of the organization as determined by the President, the time and location of which shall be publicized and GA shall never meet in secret.

Subsection 2. All meetings of the GA shall be held in a suitable location. Meetings shall be publicly announced at least forty-eight (48) hours in advance.

Subsection 3. Special or Emergency Meetings of the General Assembly may be called by the President or by one-third (1/3) of the GA. Members shall be notified of such meetings at least forty-eight (48) hours in advance.

Subsection 4. Business may only be conducted in the presence of a quorum which consists of a simple majority of voting GA members or their designated proxies.

Subsection 5. The RHA Advisor shall have full speaking privileges, but shall not make motions or vote. Any other individual may be granted speaking rights by GA.

Subsection 6. Only the members of the Hall Council delegations to GA or their designated proxies may have the right to vote on legislation before GA.

Section ii. Chair of the General Assembly

Subsection 1. The President shall be Chair of the General Assembly, but shall have no vote, except in the case of a tie.

Subsection 2. In the absence of the President as the Chair the order of alternative chairs shall be as follows:

I. The Vice President of Administration and Finance followed by the most senior officer present listed in the line of temporary succession for the Office of the President, who shall only be able to vote in the case of a tie.

II. The most senior member of the GA present as determined, who shall be able to vote as they normally would.
A. Seniority of members of the General Assembly shall be determined primarily by length of service, in years, in the General Assembly.
B. If two (2) or more members have the same length of service, the following, in order from most to least, shall be more senior:
   1. Former Executive Board Members
   2. Committee Chairs
   3. Hall Council Presidents
   4. Members representing communities with larger populations
   5. Members whose surnames come earlier alphabetically
   6. Members whose given names come earlier alphabetically

Section iii. Plenary and Implied Powers

Subsection 1. GA shall be the supreme legislative body of the RHA and shall have legislative authority over the internal policies, advocacy initiatives, financial allocations, budgeting, and programming of the RHA.

Subsection 2. GA shall be empowered to confirm appointments, create standing and select committees, amend and approve the governing documents of the organization, ensure proper function, hear reports from the Executive Branch and shall be the primary authority on discipline and conduct within the organization.

Subsection 3. The GA shall take all legislative action which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the aforementioned powers and all other powers vested by the Constitution and these Bylaws, except ex post facto legislation.

Subsection 4. GA may also impose sanctions for disruptions of its meetings and committee proceedings. Upon election and acceptance of a position within GA, the members are bound to abide by all rules of order and ethics decided by the organization.

Section v. Attendance and Proxies

Subsection 1. Members of GA shall be required to attend all meetings of full GA and all Committees they sit on, members may receive their attendance excused from the President or the committee chair, respectively. If any member sends a Proxy, they shall be considered in attendance. If any member is absent from three such meetings without sending a proxy or getting absences waived, they shall be suspended and referred to a Ad-hoc Select disciplinary Committee.

Subsection 2. Committee absences do not require nor allow proxies.

Subsection 3. Proxies must live in the same residence hall as the absent GA member and they must announce during roll call that they are a proxy for said absent member.

Subsection 4. Proxies shall have the same rights and privileges as the member during the meeting in which they serve as a proxy; however, the GA member they are proxying for may instruct them as to how to participate and vote.
Section vi. Legislation

Subsection 1. GA shall exercise legislative power through the use of bills, which shall be binding upon the entire organization; resolutions, which shall express the sentiments of the GA; legislative directives, which shall order specific action from members of the Executive Board.

Subsection 2. The President shall only be empowered to refuse consideration of legislation if it advocates for the violation of or conflicts with, American University Policies or any applicable law.

Subsection 3. Proposal of legislation shall be conducted by voting members of GA only. Others may author pieces of legislation, but only members of the GA may propose legislation on the floor of the Assembly.

Subsection 4. Proposed legislation, upon being properly formatted by the Chief of Staff, shall be sent immediately to the President for inclusion on the agenda.

Subsection 5. The President shall then assign pieces of legislation to relevant committees for initial debate and amendments.

Subsection 6. The committee or committees to which the legislation was assigned shall then review, discuss, and amend the legislation as it sees fit, eventually voting to send the legislation to the floor of the GA or not. Upon a vote in the affirmative in all the committees with jurisdiction, the legislation shall then be sent to the President for inclusion on the GA agenda with all deliberate speed.

Section vii. Committees

Subsection 1. The President shall assign committee members by the beginning of the second meeting of the GA by the President. The President shall be responsible for appointing a Chair of each committee.

Subsection 2. The President shall make every effort to assign GA members to committees proportionally and according to members’ preferences.

Subsection 3. The committees of GA, as determined by their chair, shall meet regularly, at least three times per semester, at a publicly announced time and location, to transact business pertaining to their responsibilities.

Subsection 4. All meetings shall be documented by minutes, including all formal votes of the committee. Committees’ meeting minutes shall be transmitted to the Chief of Staff.

Subsection 5. The Chief of Staff shall report to the GA all formal votes by the committee at the next meeting of the GA. GA may, at its discretion, force reconsideration of a committee’s decision on the floor of GA by a two-thirds vote.

Subsection 6. The President, Chief of Staff, and Advisor shall each be deemed a nonvoting, ex-officio member of all committees.
Subsection 7. Non-committee members may be granted speaking rights by the committee.

Subsection 8. Committees may request the presence of an Executive Board member at any number of committee meetings and such request shall grant them speaking rights for the duration of the meeting.

Subsection 9. The purpose of committees shall be to expedite GA meetings by hashing out amendments and speaking informally about legislation and other ideas that have already been proposed; and, Brainstorm ideas for new legislation or initiatives that the RHA may pursue to improve residents’ lives.
