The screenshot shows a web interface for creating a new item in a course discussion forum. At the top left is the logo for Washington College of Law, American University. Below it are navigation tabs: My Home Page, Offices, Programs and Organizations, and Student. A breadcrumb trail reads: myWCL > Courses > Summer 2009 Semester > Externship Component. On the left is a 'QUICK LINKS' sidebar with categories: Course Home, General (with links to Course Announcements, Course Calendar, Course Description, Course Discussion Forum, External Links, Audio and Video Links, Course Wiki, Student Drop Box, and Course Blog), and Downloadable Materials (with link to Course Materials). The main content area is titled 'Course Discussion Forum: New Item'. It features a toolbar with 'Attach File' and 'Spelling...' options, and a note that '*' indicates a required field. There are two 'OK' and 'Cancel' buttons. A yellow callout box with the text 'Enter a Subject', 'Enter the Body', and 'You can Attach a File and check spelling.' has two red arrows pointing to the 'Subject' input field and the rich text editor respectively.

What is a wiki site?

Wikiviki means quick in Hawaiian. A wiki site is a Web site in which users can easily edit any page. The site grows organically by linking existing pages together or by creating links to new pages. If a user finds a link to an uncreated page, he or she can follow the link and create the page.

In business environments, a wiki site provides a low-maintenance way to record knowledge. Information that is usually traded in e-mail messages, gleaned from hallway conversations, or written on paper can instead be recorded in a wiki site, in context with similar knowledge.

Other example uses of wiki sites include brainstorming ideas, collaborating on designs, creating an instruction guide, gathering data from the field, tracking call center knowledge, and building an encyclopedia of knowledge.

The screenshot shows a web interface for a course wiki. At the top, the page title is "Sem: Adv. Administrative Law". Below the title, there is a navigation menu with "myWCL", "My Home Page", "Offices", and "Programs and Organiza". The main content area displays "Testing Wiki" in large green text. To the left, a "Versions" sidebar lists two entries: "2.0 8/11/2009 12:23 PM" and "1.0 8/11/2009 12:10 PM". A yellow callout box with a black border contains the text: "The entire history of additions, deletions will be listed. Various versions will also be kept. The page can be 'Checked Out' to prohibit editing until checked back in." Red arrows point from this box to the "Check Out" button in the toolbar and to the version list. The toolbar includes buttons for "Edit Item", "Delete Item", "Manage Permissions", "Check Out", "Version History", and "Alert Me". Below the toolbar, a message states: "This page does not show changes in Web Parts, images, or HTML formatting. Modified at 8/11/2009 12:23 PM by awd:kmunster". A green oval highlights the "Wiki Content" section, which contains the text: "This wiki page is just for training ~~purposes~~ purposes. Now I am editing the wiki."
